By the way, let's get started...

Look at the picture below,

Market value $34.99 but yours free, after retweet.

Step 1. First, retweet my pinned post (click to open) with the book cover. Twitter account required.

Step 2. Enter the email address, where to send your free copy of CSS Visual Dictionary. Also enter your Twitter username, so my script can check you actually retweeted it.

Email Address

Twitter Username @

Note: the script will check if the post was retweeted from your username!

Send Me Free Copy

Step 3. Follow me on Twitter (optional) for more free stuff.

Here you can see that in order to get a book worth $34.99 for free, users need to do 2 basic things that are required.

The 2 tasks are,

1. Retweet Pinned Post
2. Enter Email Address

Retweet Pinned Post: By retweeting or reposting, other X (Twitter) users will see the tweet and they will also be interested in getting this book for free. As a result, they will also join it.

It will automatically promote the book.

Enter Email Address: By providing your email address, this book owner will automatically receive your email for future product promotions.

That means, not only does he grow his email list (first benefit), but he also gets his free ebook shared around X or Twitter (second benefit).

From this surely you understand what you have to do.

That is, you have to give away any premium stuff for free. And in return retweets and email addresses must be provided.

This way you can easily promote your product and also grow your email list.
